

Caroline Kim Oh – Leadership Coach & Trainer

Caroline is a certified coach and advisor specializing in nonprofit and foundation organizations. As a trusted advisor to senior leaders who are navigating complex business challenges, she helps her clients to become confident, high performing and authentic leaders. In addition to coaching, Caroline consults with organizations for effective executive leadership on-boarding, assessment and development. She is a frequent speaker and advisor on a variety of nonprofit management and leadership issues. Prior to coaching, Caroline worked at iMentor, a youth development and college access nonprofit. She served as its first Director of Programs, then its Executive Director and finally its President.

Coaching Approach

With focus, curiosity and compassion, Caroline helps her clients articulate what they want in their leadership development. She works to understand what makes these goals important and develops bespoke strategies to meet them. Caroline provides the accountability partnership to help her clients leverage their own strengths, experiences, networks and resourcefulness to meet these goals. Her coaching specialties include: high-performing aspiring leaders, senior leaders looking to successfully onboard into a larger role, and organizations that are facing steep change and growth.

Professional Highlights

Founder, CKO Coaching & Consulting
President & Executive Director, iMentor
Board Member, Row New York
Board Member, Youth INC
Board Member, Nonprofit Coordinating Committee
Columnist, The Clyde Fitch Report

Educational Highlights

Professional Co-Active Coach (CPCC) Certification,
Coaches Training Institute (CTI)
Master's in Public Administration, New York
University Wagner School of Public Service
Bachelor of Arts, Cornell University
The Leadership Circle Profile Certification